Military Road System
Now Certain; We Must Guard State Gas Tax

With passage of a bill by the Senate Wednesday the federal government now seems committed to a 40,000-mile transcontinental highway program which will cost between 25 and 50 billion dollars and require 16 years to complete.

That a newspaper which generally champions good roads wherever they are proposed should object to the new federal program, as this paper does, may take a bit of explaining — but we are up to it.

The broad principle of the federal highway network — something everyone favors — a unified system of high-speed roads which will take an American anywhere he wants to go quickly and safely. The principle is something we have been practicing for years.

Back in 1916 a cousin and I drove from the East Coast to Quincy, Ill., in four days — one of them being a 22-hour day. What paved roads we had were rough and full of right-angle turns — and western Indiana and all of Illinois had nothing but dirt roads. But today that same trip can be made in two days of normal driving — showing how we have improved our basic highways and connected them up, more or less, in a transcontinental system.

The new federal program is merely a hurry-up plan for a pattern we are already following. But we would do well to measure the final cost of this "expediting."

For instance:
1. To finance this fast building system will require new federal taxes on gasoline, diesel fuel, tires, trucks, buses, trailers, and a brand new tax on camelback — the main ingredient for recapping tires.

2. The upper federal tax will probably raise the cost of trucks by 2 per cent.

3. The weight of the combined proposed taxes will probably increase the cost of operating the average passenger automobile by $6.00 a year; a light truck by $75 a year; and $600 a year for the big commercial hauling units.

The foregoing figures may be presumed to be accurate, for they are taken from the May 21 issue of the Wall Street Journal, the newspaper for financial America.

This is what we will pay immediately for a program run entirely out of Washington and dictated primarily by military rather than civilian needs. For instance, the main impact on southwest Arkansas for the expenditure of all this money would be a single highway — the new airline road paralleling U. S. 67 on an entirely new right-of-way and passing Hope a few miles out, either north or south.

All this was pointed out in a widely published editorial protest we wrote early in the spring when hearings opened on the highway legislation. However, we have lost our point — along with a lot of other thoughtful observers of the governmental scene.

Now we should be on guard against the second stage of the persistent attempt of the federalists to do all local planning and lay their hands on all state and local tax funds. Let me explain. The new federal or military road plan envisions the Washington government putting up 90 per cent of all costs — to begin with. But the history of all such "benevolent" relationships between the federal and state governments is that once the relationship is entered into the federal men promptly start pushing the states to get their share of the cost up to 50 per cent.

Thus, you see, we have become a party to a deal where some one else tells us where and when new roads will be built and we ultimately face the threat of losing control of our own state gasoline tax. For if we are ever required to put up 50 per cent of the cost of this new program Arkansas will see its state gasoline tax go twice as high as its present level.

Suggests Using Foreign Aid Cut to Build Planes

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) suggested today that money cut from President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid budget could be used to finance a faster buildup of U. S. air power.

McClellan is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, now working on a defense budget of nearly $3 1/2 billion dollars which some air power exponents contend may not assure supremacy for U. S. air strength over Russia's.

The budget for the year starting July 1 calls for roughly 15 1/2 billions for the air force, 10 billions for the Navy and 7 1/2 billions for the Army.

McClellan, a vigorous critic of past foreign aid policy, lined up with those calling for more money for air power. The issue has touched off a new interservice row in the Pentagon, with echoes in Congress.

McClellan declined to give a specific figure he thinks the Air Force should get. Sen. Chavez (D-NM), head of an Appropriations subcommittee handling the defense budget, has predicted the full committee will vote to boost the Air Force budget by one to two billion dollars and perhaps vote more money for the Army too.

"We should emphasize Air Force strength," McClellan told a reporter. "I am not at all satisfied with the progress being made. It should be accelerated, and we should provide whatever is needed."

He said foreign aid should be considered separately from the defense spending problem, but that reduced foreign aid could make more money available for defense.

Eisenhower's foreign aid program has been acted upon only by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which recommended a cut of $1,109,000,000. The House is due to vote on its next week, the Senate later.

Two Republican members of the Appropriations Committee, Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) and Sen. Thyne (R-Min.) said it was too early to try to settle on dollar totals for the force.

Unsophisticated South Pacific Is No More — Natives Use War, Radio to Gain New Knowledge

By JIM BECKER
HONOLULU, May 31 (AP) — The dreamy, unsophisticated South Pacific is no more. The island natives, via radio and war-gained knowledge, are strictly up to date.

Loin-clothed baseball teams sport pitchers with a wicked curve, the racial situation and natives who turn down cigarettes of the wrong brand are the things that travelers find now.

The Navy destroyer escort Whitehurst found the baseball team on a palm-rigged atoll named Lukunor. The chief of the island challenged the sailors to a game.

The bases were made of palm leaves and driftwood and there was an outrigger canoe in center field. The natives had no gloves or shoes and their uniforms were loin cloths but they could play baseball.

Wide Sections Hit by Storm Weather

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather hit sections of Kansas and Oklahoma and rainy weather extended from eastern Colorado over wide areas eastward into New England today.

Severe thunderstorms broke out last night along the eastern border between Kansas and Oklahoma. Funnel clouds were reported from north of Oklahoma City northward to near Hutchinson, Kan., and eastward to the Missouri border.

Electrical storms and strong winds swept areas in southeast Kansas. Rain was heavy in some sections. Showers and thunderstorms continued this morning from eastern Colorado through Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, northern Arkansas, western Kentucky, southern and central Indiana, into Lower Michigan and around most of the lower Great Lakes region.

Light showers fell in central New York and in parts of Central New England. Scattered showers and thunderstorms were reported from the mountain areas of southern Idaho and in northern Oregon and central Washington.

Cooler air moved into the northern Great Lakes region, the upper Mississippi Valley, the northern and central plains and the eastern slopes of the northern Rockies. Strong winds, with showers, accompanied the cooler air as it pushed into the eastern Dakotas and western Minnesota.

South of the cool belt, generally mild weather prevailed.

Bus Boycott Only Partly Effective

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Negro boycott of city bus service has been judged about 50 per cent effective after one day of operation.

About 200 Negroes met Tuesday night and voted to boycott the buses until seating of white persons and Negroes on predominantly Negro lines is made on a first come, first served basis. They also want Negro drivers on the predominantly Negro lines and what they termed more courtesy from white drivers.

The meeting followed the arrest of two Florida A&M University students who had taken seats in the front of a Cities Transit Co. bus and refused to move to the rear.

Charges against the two women, Wilhelmina Jakes, 26, and Carrie F. Patterson, 29, were dropped by police yesterday. Chief Frank Soutamire said the cases would be turned over to authorities of the all-Negro institution. They were charged with placing themselves in a position to incite a riot and were released in $25 bond each.

The boycott started before the charges were dropped. Boycott leaders estimated the number of Negro passengers had been cut in half.

Faubus Rapped by States Rights Group
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and three other Southern governors were criticized by the newly formed Mississippians for States Rights here yesterday.

About 250 persons organized the splinter party on the assumption that neither major party would nominate candidates acceptable to the South.

They criticized Faubus, Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi, Gov. James Polson of Alabama and Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana for what they called a lack of leadership against federal encroachment on states rights.

At Little Rock, Faubus could not be reached immediately for comment.

The cheering Mississippians agreed to qualify independent presidential electors in an attempt to create a foothold for bargaining with either the Republican or Democratic Party for full states rights. The movement is a virtual rebirth of the 1948 Democratic Party split.

Feeling Fine, Ike Tells GOP Workers

By WILLIAM M. BATES

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower told cheering GOP campaign workers today that he is feeling fine and intends to campaign for reelection "as cheerfully, energetically, and enthusiastically as it is possible to do so."

He said he feels so good that he wouldn't even know he had a heart attack last fall except that "the doctors keep reminding me of it."

Mr. Eisenhower told leaders of the recently reorganized citizens for Eisenhower movement that "I am perfectly ready to go forward."

He urged them to go out and fight, not only for his own reelection, but also for a Republican Congress.

West Awaiting Reaction of Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Western diplomats waited anxiously today for Russia's reaction to a British resolution asking U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to continue his good offices in the Middle East.

The U. N. Security Council called a session for the second round of debate on the resolution. Arkady A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate, said he would speak today but gave no hint as to his stand.

Britain, the United States and France were in agreement on the resolution. Sobolev sought to become a sponsor at one stage of negotiations in the last few days. The West decided however, to let Britain stand alone as sponsor.

The resolution, backed by the majority of the council members in speeches Tuesday, commended Hammarskjold for his successful mission to the Middle East last month. It requests him to continue his good offices and calls on the conflicting parties to cooperate with him. It asks the U. N. truce supervisor, Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, to report to the council any truce violations endangering cease — fire agreements renewed at Hammarskjold's suggestion.

Arab delegates have been holding long conferences in an attempt to obtain major alterations in the resolution. They are opposed to what they called a "black check" approach in asking the secretary general to continue his good offices. The Arabs, particularly Egypt, want the council to define precisely what Hammarskjold can do.

The British refuse to make this change, asserting they have confidence in Hammarskjold.

Demo Twins Take Drives to California

By The Associated Press

Sen. Estes Kefauver, fighting to regain ground lost in his Florida primary defeat, campaigned at full throttle today in an effort to whip Adlai Stevenson in California's climactic Democratic presidential primary.

Stevenson obviously was buoyed by his Florida victory over Kefauver — narrow as it was — as he too pushed a drive for votes in the California primary next Tuesday.

The rival candidates quickly resumed their fighting. Kefauver blamed his Florida defeat on support given to Stevenson by what he called "Talmadge-type" politicians. Stevenson retorted that Kefauver was a "sore loser" and accused his opponent of "mud slinging."

101 Killed in Nation During Holiday Period

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents across the nation Memorial Day took a toll of 101 lives, about 10 per cent fewer than the 110 predicted by the National Safety Council.

Twelve states and the District of Columbia observed the holiday without a single traffic fatality.

Ned H. Dearborne, safety council president, hailed the traffic picture as "encouraging" and called for greater effort to hold down the forthcoming July 4th holiday toll.

The holiday traffic toll this year occurred over a 30-hour period from 6 p. m. (local time) Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

In other violent deaths, 2 persons drowned and another 30 lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents. The total of deaths from traffic, drownings and miscellaneous violence — 10 compared with 11 reported in an Associated Press survey on May 18, a non-holiday Wednesday.

On that day, 70 traffic fatalities, 8 drownings and 33 deaths from miscellaneous mishaps were reported.

The record traffic death rate for any one-day holiday was set on Christmas 1946, when 253 persons were killed on the highways.

Last year's Memorial Day holiday extended over a three-day period — a weekend — and 369 persons lost their lives in motor mishaps. Total accidental deaths were 598.

Generally mild weather lured millions of motorists to the highways yesterday in the first holiday of the spring-summer season.

Steel Firms Join Forces in New Contract Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Eight men representing the nation's biggest three steel companies and the United Steelworkers today met in an unprecedented session to bargain on costly union demands for new labor contracts.

Representing the union at the bargaining table were USW President David J. McDonald, I. W. Abel, secretary treasurer, Howard R. Hague, international vice president, and Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel.

The steel companies' representatives are Thomas E. Patton, assistant president, and first vice president of Republic Steel Corp., John Morse, legal counsel for Bethlehem Steel Corp., John A. Stephens, vice president in charge of industrial relations for U. S. Steel Corp., and his legal counsel, Heath Larry, assistant general solicitor for the firm.

Both union and steel negotiators said they would refrain at this time for making any further statements to newsmen.

Results of the negotiations — scheduled to transfer to New York next Wednesday — likely will set the pattern for contract settlements throughout the basic steel industry.

Labor agreements with 172 steel firms and iron ore mining companies expire at midnight June 30th. The union would be free to call an industry-wide strike if a settlement is not reached by then.

Engineer Is Killed in B&O Wreck
PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio westbound National Limited plowed into a boulder at a tunnel exit near here early today, killing the engineer. His fireman was missing.

The huge rock apparently had been loosened by hard rains and rolled down the hillside to straddle the tracks.

The train was westbound to St. Louis from New York.

Engineer J. C. Riley, 52, of Grafton, W. Va., was found dead in the wreckage.

Fireman Paul R. Hooten, about 32, of Grafton was missing and railroad officials said it was improbable that he could have escaped.

The National Limited, as customary to help it over mountainous grades in this area, was pulled by two diesels.

The front engine rolled over into B&O Creek from the shoulder bridge while the second one overturned on land.

The first six cars derailed, but only the first one overturned.

The five Pullman sleepers on the rear did not leave the tracks. Passengers in the three coaches and railway personnel in the dining and baggage cars were transferred to an emergency car and brought to Parkersburg.

The scene of the wreck is between Parkersburg, on the Ohio River at the western edge of the state, and Clarksburg, in central West Virginia.

Prior to Benson's announcement the market had been highly erratic, most cereals selling lower while soybeans firmed. A forecast of a smaller than expected carry-over of fas and oils on Oct. 1 helped soybeans.

On the late upswing losses were cancelled out and gains substituted in practically all cereals. Benson said farmers could get soil bank payments by plowing under crops not already matured.

racial problem in the United States, how?

The native was a school teacher and an avid listener to radio newscasts.

In the Cook Islands groups, George reported that the natives turned down his offers of cigarettes.

"Wrong brand," he explained. "The Army had an air base there during the war and the natives got spoiled. Anyway they didn't like these filter tips."

Beauty Winner Does Succeed in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who says that beauty contest winners never succeed in Hollywood? Nobody has a brighter future here than Miss Kansas of 1948.

Her name is Vera Miles, and she's the pride of Wichita. Her home town will be more proud of her as time goes on, because she's destined for the top rung in Hollywood.

How can you tell? It's easy. She is tied up for three pictures a year by hit-maker Alfred Hitchcock. She is also committed to a picture yearly for the C. V. Whitney Co., meaning she'll work for another hit-maker, John Ford.

The last female star Hitchcock developed was a girl named Grace Kelly. Indeed, Vera seems destined to be compared with Mrs. Grimaidi. Both have an all-American kind of beauty, but their personalities are entirely different. While Grace was cool and aloof, Vera is down-to-earth and friendly.

Vera's husband, Gordon Scott, is the current cover boy for Tarzan.

Vera was no overnight success. She was scouted at the Miss America Pageant and brought to Hollywood by RKO. After no pictures, she was dropped. Then 20th Century-Fox picked her up on the rebound, but once again her film credits were zero.

"But the picture business has been kind to me," she says. "I have never really gone hungry."

Her next contract was at Warner, where she appeared in "The Charge at Feather River" with Guy Madison. Again she was dropped.

After that she did a solid year of television. TV was directly responsible for the biggest break of her career. Alfred Hitchcock happened to catch her performance on a media show and was impressed—"but at that time he still was able to get Grace."

By an odd coincidence, the director saw a re-run of the same show six months later, when the

One Fatality in Arkansas So Far

By The Associated Press

Arkansas holiday accidental death toll stood at one today with the report of a traffic fatality near Blytheville.

Addie Jo Stevens, 31, of Blytheville, was killed about 10 o'clock last night when the car in which she was a passenger overturned on Highway 18, east of Blytheville. Injured were Floyd Darman, 24, of Honersville, Mo., and Wayne Wallace and Betty Gill, 27, both of Blytheville.

State Trooper Ben Cabin said the automobile, driven by Wallace, overturned and skidded about 746 feet.

The Memorial Day accidental death tabulation began at 6 p. m. yesterday.

Civil Rights Issue Vote Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) Some backers of civil rights legislation expressed confidence today the House will vote on the issue before Congress adjourns. A bipartisan group of 21 House members announced yesterday they are circulating a petition to bring the measure, embodying President Eisenhower's recommendations, to the House floor. It bogs down in the Rules Committee.

But one of the leaders of the group, Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif.) said in an interview the petition is "only a standby." He said he does not think the announcement has impaired chances the Rules Committee will bring the bill out.

Southerners have opposed the measure at every opportunity and can be counted to do so again in the Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.), even though they are in the minority there.

Pastrano Wins Over Spieser

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Willie Pastrano finally got Chuck Spieser out of his hair, but the swift New Orleans heavyweight's future plans have little pattern.

Pastrano, borrowing a page from the baseball manual, hit to all fields last night. He displayed a newly acquired style of infighting in winning a nationally televised 10-round split decision over the former Olympic team member from Detroit.

Longest Homer of Them All Hit by Mantle

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Eighteen inches—a mere foot and a half—was all that stood in the way of Mickey Mantle becoming the first baseball player to hit a fair ball out of massive Yankee Stadium.

Nobody—not even the mighty Babe Ruth or Larrupin' Lou Gehrig—ever hit a ball farther in the Yankees' 33-year-old ball park.

Mantle's wallop hit the facade of the roof above the third tier in right field, he switch hitting sensation stroked his home run, No. 39 of the season, batting lefthanded against righthander Pedro Ramos of the Washington Senators.

It came in the fifth inning, with two out and two on, a 2-2 count, and led to the Yankees' first game 4-3 triumph. Mickey hit another home run in the second game, also won by the Yankees, 12-5, his one traveled a mere 400 feet and landed in the right-center field bleachers.

Yankee Coaches Bill Dickey and Frank Crosetti, who were teammates of Ruth and Gehrig, agreed they had never seen a ball travel farther than Mantle's first game clout.

The most striking feature of Mantle's blow, according to Manager Casey Stengel, was not so much the distance but the fact that Mickey did not swing too hard.

"He took a swing of about two feet," said Stengel. "In other words, he did not swing from his heels. That boy has power he hasn't used yet."

How far was the drive? Some guessed it would have traveled about 550 feet had nothing impeded its progress.

The distance from the ground to the roof in right field is 118 feet. The facade is set back 25 feet from the base of the stands.

Mrs. Marie Tyree Draper; and his brother, Mr. Fred Tyree

Mrs. Majorie Thomas and mother, Mrs. Lora Langston of Washington, Ark., were the guests of Mrs. Langston's sisters, Mrs. Reggie Tyree and Mrs. Idella Langston.

at the ground. The ball traveled 370 feet and was 117 feet high when it hit the facade.

Mickey's 20 homers in the Yankees' games put him 11 games ahead of Ruth's record pace when he slammed 60 in 1927. The Babe did not get his 20th until his 52nd game.

Mantle Swats Long Homers to Win for Yanks

OF ED WILKS
OF The Associated Press

It's been a long time coming, but Bobby Thomson finally looks ready to deliver the payoff for the Milwaukee Braves in that ill-fated deal they arranged to get him from the New York Giants in 1954.

The Swatman Scot was the man the Braves figured they needed for the pennant, and so they packed up pitchers Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle, catcher Ebba St. Clair, infielder Billy Klaus and about $50,000 and sent them to the Polo Grounds for Bobby and catcher Sam Calderone.

You know what happened. Thomson broke an ankle in spring training, hit only two home runs and the Braves finished third. The Giants won the flag—with Antonelli winning 21 games.

Last season, Thomson hit 12 homers while playing on a part time basis and the Braves finished second to Brooklyn.

New Thomson has eight home runs so far this season and the Milwaukee lead the National League by a game. Bobby slammed four homers, had six hits in nine trips and drove in seven runs as the Braves split a double-header with the Chicago Cubs yesterday.

All told, the two clubs combined for 15 home runs among the record 50 which were blasted in the 16-game Memorial Day card.

For all the records and Thomson's great day, however, most of the excitement was set off by Mickey Mantle's "nearmiss." The Oklahoma strong boy, jolting his 19th and 20th homers of the season as the New York Yankees swept Washington, smacked one against the facade on the third tier in right field that missed by 18 inches of being the first fair ball ever hit out of mammoth Yankee Stadium.

Thomson hit two homers in each game—his first "double" since Aug. 22, 1953. A pair of two-run homers by Hobie Landrith and Dee Fondy in the sixth got the job done in the opener for the Cubs, however, 10-9. Thomson's three-run blast triggered a four-run sixth that helped Milwaukee to an 11-9 edge in the nightcap.

Cub pitcher, Russ Meyer and Billy Bruton were banished from the opener after exchanging blows when Meyer conked Bruton on his protective helmet with a pitch.

Cincinnati replaced St. Louis as the NL runner-up, sweeping the Cardinals 6-3 and 6-5. Ray Jablonski's three-run homer in the eighth won the opener. Doubles by Frank Robinson and Ted Klusowski fired a six-run third that won the nightcap.

Pittsburgh held fourth place, 1 1/2 games back in a split with the New York Giants. Dale Long's triple won the opener in 10 innings 5-4 for the Pirates. A two-run double by Al Dark broke up the nightcap for the Giants in 15 innings, 5-3.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia also split, the Dodgers scoring six in the sixth off Robin Roberts to win 6-5 in the opener. Then the Phils, with seven unearned runs, ran off with a 12-3 decision.

The Yankees beat the Senators 4-3 and 12-5. Mantle's big belt with two on gave them the lead in the opener. Mantle's 20th homer cracked a 3-all tie in the nightcap and a five-run sixth iced it.

Billy Pierce needed help, but won No. 100 in the majors and third straight over Cleveland as Chicago clipped the Indians twice 6-3 and 9-6.

Baltimore twice edged Boston in the ninth, 2-1 and 5-4. Bob Hale's single broke up the second game. Bob Nieman's single ended the opener.

Virgil Rucks, despite a swollen ankle that benched him for 10 days, three-hit Kansas City as Detroit beat the A's 5-1 in the second half of a morning-afternoon pair on a two-run homer by Al Kaline and a three-run shot by Frank House, he Tigers took the opener 11-3.

Favorable Testimony for Mountain Valley

HOT SPRINGS. (AP) — Three physicians testified yesterday that Mountain Valley water benefits patients suffering from certain types of ailments.

The testimony was given for bottlers of the water in trial of a suit by the federal government claiming that some advertising material on behalf of the product is misleading and should be condemned. The Mountain Valley company is resisting the suit.

The doctors who backed up the company were Dr. Joseph Kovacs of New York University, Dr. Leo B. Allen of Philadelphia, and Dr. William B. Herbst of Washington, D. C., a professor at Georgetown Medical School.

Also testifying for Mountain Valley was John A. Killian, a biochemist and president of Killian Research Laboratories, who said the water contained less sodium and potassium and more calcium and magnesium than water he had tested from 25 large cities.

The trial started in U. S. District Court early last week. The government finished its direct testimony last Friday.

Lynn and Jennie of El Dorado were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Denton Robinson and daughters in Groggton, Texas.

Whooping Cranes Whooping It Up

NEW ORLEANS (U)—Crip the whooping crane whooped it up like any other proud father today after his mate presented the bird world with the first of its species born in captivity.

The long-awaited offspring made its appearance yesterday at the Audubon Park Zoo. It is the 31st whooping crane known to exist.

Crip's mate Josephine set the bird world talking a month ago when she laid the first of two eggs. The second still remains to be hatched.

The shy newcomer occasionally came from beneath its mother's wing as photographers eagerly awaited an opening. They had some trouble since the baby crane's color blended with its surroundings.

The whooping crane is the tallest bird in North America. It is long-necked, long-legged, red-faced and white-bodied.

Irish immigrants are credited with introducing white potatoes into New England.

TV Is Looking for New Faces and Programs

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (U)—The routine comedian's threat about firing his writers isn't a quip at all to those who preside over TV laughter.

For a variety of reasons—most of which are right in your living room—laughter is getting in short supply in television. The National Broadcasting Co., alert to a problem which is getting worse instead of better, is moving even now to install a production line to be filled with bright new comedy writing talent.

In the past six or seven years television has run through material which took years to develop. We become accustomed—and then bored—with comedians and the routine which in other days would have lasted them lifetimes as they moved about the vaudeville theaters of the country. He old pros who turned out top comedy material on order have been overworked by weekly shows until many of them have dried up. Some have attempted to needle their talents by moving from one show to another, from one type of performer to another.

Most of the veteran comedians have decided that the once-a-week routine is the pace that kills them with the TV audience. So they are tanning themselves on appearances.

Others, beset by sagging ratings and hard-to-find sponsors, have quietly disappeared back into the nightclubs and theatres.

The man and material—eating tendencies of television have resulted in NBC's "classes" for young comedians and comedy writers.

Leonard Hole, who is director of NBC's new program development, oversees the whole young talent project. He solicited manuscripts from college students, little theatre groups and writers for smaller radio and television stations. The result was 2,000 manuscripts.

"Most of them were lousy," said Hole, but the project led to finding 5 promising writers. These were then assigned to various comedy shows, permitted to sit in on con-

Burns Fatal to Dumas Resident

DUMAS, (U)—A Dumas businessman, Hubert Pittman, about 40, was seriously burned in the crash of a light plane on an airstrip at nearby Winchester late yesterday.

Pittman apparently was trying to make a landing on the airstrip. State Police rooper Buren Jackson said, when the plane hit a power line, crashed and broke into flames.

Jackson said Jimmy Hughes, the airstrip owner, and an unidentified man pulled Pittman from the burning wreckage.

Attendants at a hospital here said Pittman had suffered third-degree burns and was in critical condition.

Curses When Delayed by Memorial Parade

LITTLE ROCK (U)—An impatient motorist cursed the official party of a Memorial Day parade here because he was delayed by a ceremony on a bridge.

One of the members of the party, Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, Arkansas adjutant general, later told a crowd at National Cemetery that he didn't answer the angry motorist.

"I thought at first I'd tell him he made me mad," the general said during an address. "but I thought it over. I'm glad to live in a country where a man can stand up and say he's mad because he's being delayed by a Memorial Day Parade."

One of four U. S. school children has vision difficulties.

ferences—and worked independently on projects assigned to the regular writers. Nine have had material accepted from the top shows—Hope, Carson and Gobel.

"It put them in a professional atmosphere," he continued. "Let them learn how the professionals worked together building jokes and sharpening lines by moving words around."

And the search for new talent and new faces goes on, rather desperately.

"This comedy situation is no joke," says the sober-faced Hole. "It's the most serious shortage in television."

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic—

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflo

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car these days must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflo smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflo.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness—

The flash-fast new getaway response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you barely press the pedal.

Dulles Sure to Be Top Target of Democrats

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Every day is going to seem like Decoration day to Secretary of State Dulles once the presidential campaign gets under way. The Democrats will be pinning charges all over him for his handling of foreign affairs.

They're already doing it. So when he said a few days ago he favors a "pretty thorough airing" of foreign policy in this year's campaign it was the same as if he had said "I can't stop it from raining."

"It can't be much of a surprise to Dulles that the Democrats so early in the election year are banging away at him — and President Eisenhower's — conduct of foreign policy," Dulles himself was so eager to attack the Democrats' foreign policy in the 1952 presidential campaign that he restored early this year as a special adviser to the Truman administration, so he could speak his mind freely.

And speak he did, right up to election day. He was one of the most persistent Republican critics of the Truman foreign policy although, after becoming secretary of state, that was the basic policy he followed himself.

When the Democrats rip into the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy this year they have less emotions appeal than Dulles was able to muster up four years ago.

In 1948 the Korean War was still being fought, and the American people were sick of it. No one knew whether that small war might be extended into a big one with Russia and Red China.

Now the Korean war is over. Red China has quieted down. Russia is not only not growing, but has promised to take 1,200,000 men out of military service. And the world is breathing easier than it was in 1948.

If some of the words the Democrats use this year against Dulles sound strange familiar-like words Dulles used against them in 1948 — it doesn't necessarily mean politicians have a limited vocabulary. It may be coincidence.

In 1948 Dulles accused the Democrats of conducting a "year guard" against communism instead of grasping the initiative. This year Adlai Stevenson, one of the Democrats' presidential hopefuls, said "It is high time that we take some initiative to ally the world's misgivings."

In 1948 Dulles said the Russians were "winning by default" because they have not "had to meet the vision, the imagination, the resourcefulness... of which the American people are capable."

Averell Harriman, another potential Democratic nominee, said this year that what American foreign policy needs is "fresh start, a rethinking, an imaginative and creative new approach."

In 1948 Dulles said the Democrats had become a "victim" of their "own war propaganda about Soviet Russia."

This year Sen. Estes Kefauver, a third Democrat with eyes on the White House, said the Eisenhower administration and Dulles "have become prisoners of their slogans and promises."

TV's $64,000 Program Has to Make Rule

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The essential part of a contest is a set of rules. But every once in a while the rules can be so perplexing that the $64,000 Challenge (CBS-TV) discovered Sunday night.

Returning for the fifth time, Gloria Loeferman, 13, of Baltimore and Andrew Douglass, 12, of Greenwich, Conn., tied at the $64,000 level in a spelling contest. Gloria is the defending champion speller as a result of her success on "The $64,000 Question" last August.

Now the two will return next Sunday to see if a decision can be made who gets the $64,000. But since both have reached that highest plateau, some people have asked why shouldn't both kids get $64,000 apiece?

In answer to that Steve Carlin, executive producer of the show, says "There's no understanding with contestants that they get the full $64,000 unless their position is absolutely uncontested — and both Andrew and Gloria are still contesting each other."

Suppose both are undefeated Sunday night. Then they'll split the take at $32,000 apiece.

"Our original idea," says Carlin, "was to follow the traditional spell-down. One winner and second death to the other. We planned to keep them coming back until there was one winner. But in the case of two swell youngsters like Gloria and Andrew it seemed cruel and quite unfair to keep them coming back. They're both good. The tension just isn't fair to them."

Others connected with the program say Gloria and Andrew are not divided with the decision to split the prize.

Well, if they split the take who will they have to receive before the contest is over? It's a question that has to be resolved before the contest is over. It's a question that has to be resolved before the contest is over.

New System on Grading Food

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Grades established by the U. S. Agriculture Department will be basis for specifications for food bought for state institutions by the purchasing agent's office after Sept. 1. Purchasing Agent Mack Struss said yesterday.

Specifications have been based on processing labels or brand names.

Sturgis said the new system would remove chances for irregularities and would make bidding "absolutely competitive."

Clements Wins Election in Kentucky

By MALCOLM PATTERSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sen. Clements took a firm lead in Kentucky's Democratic political races today in the wake of a stunning renomination victory over Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler's forces.

Clements, the Senate majority whip, rolled up a surprisingly easy triumph over Chandler-backed Joe B. Bates, a former U. S. representative, in yesterday's senatorial primary, thus adding the people's mandate to the power he wielded in the state Democratic organization.

Clements will tangle in the Nov. 6 election with Republican Thruson B. Morton, who captured his party's nomination handily.

Returns from 3,625 of Kentucky's 4,036 precincts gave:

Clements 204,894; Bates 125,184; James L. Deik 3,494.

Morton 37,748; former state Sen. Julian H. Golden 10,872; Granville Thomas 4,252.

Morton, also a former U. S. representative, resigned as an assistant secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration to make the race.

The President lost this normally Democratic state by 700 votes to

Fall Drier

THE STORY: Frank Ude has just learned that Jean Cash is a sister of a man who saved his life. Emmett Cash, who brought Frank to Cashtown, may be a horse thief and he does not seem to be welcome in the town his father built.

Chapter IX

When the sheriff was gone Jean said gently, "Is there a place where you fit in this? It seems to me like part of a puzzle. Why are you in town?"

He lifted his shoulder, shrugging. "I wouldn't know about the puzzle. I rode into Cashtown hunting a man. The man had done me a favor."

Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952.

Six of Kentucky's eight U. S. representatives who had primary opposition led in their races for re-nomination. They were Democrats: Noble J. Gregory, William H. Natcher, Brent Spence, John C. Watts, and Carl D. Perkins, and Republican Gene Siler. Gregory was Chandler-backed. Natcher, Watts and Perkins are Clements allies.

change your mind. Rafter C still needs a good hand."

Frank tramped off the doctor's porch as far as the curbside. Here he paused with his shoulder to an upright. His eyes were smoky with resentment. There was something wrong with this range.

There was no question in Frank's mind that Emmett owned his loyalty. He had promised Emmett he would join whatever he was doing; in addition, the compelling fact remained that Emmett had saved his life.

Were Emmett and Norring working hand in hand to break Jean Cash? It was just as likely Norring was the man that had lured them along the trail to Fort McHenry.

Frank shaped a cigaret as he tramped toward the Alhambra. A woman who played piano too well, who wanted to catch his interest. A thin, black-haired musician who fiddled to her music and followed her body through adoring eyes. This was all he knew definitely about the Alhambra.

He cut diagonally across to the saloon. A name on the door of another building broke his stride. Cashtown Bank. Stephen Norring, President.

So Norring was not merely a saloon man in this town. Frank saw him now shaping up as the big trump card on this range, the new power that had taken over upon old man Cash's death. Jean had said it was a puzzle; to him the blocks were beginning to fit together, the pattern no different from the sordid story of greed on another range. It brought back unhappy recollections to Frank, the tragedy that had ended in his father's death. The creases about his mouth were deeper now than they had been since riding into Cashtown.

When he walked into the Alhambra he brought along a feeling of tension. A half dozen men leaned in groups against the counter. A few more had dropped into unfriendly silence at the poker table. On the platform at the rear of the hall Lily Arnette was playing a fashionable Debussy composition. Frank's stride broke as the power of her music made itself felt. She was considerable of an artist. He wondered again what had brought her here. She sensed the tension in the room and glanced aside, hunting the cause. When she recognized him her lips budded in a smile.

Here was a woman who might put him straight about Cashtown. He might do well to encourage her interest. And then as he drifted against the bar he knew he wanted no part of that friendship.

Superhighway Plan Not Too Far-fetched

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nation is on the eve of a huge new superhighway program costing about 27½ billion dollars over the next 13 years, with the federal government putting up 25 billions and the states the rest.

It will mean a system of 40,000 miles spanning the country, linking the main cities, with six, four and two lanes, overpasses, underpasses, and a minimum of stoplights.

What will it be like? Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash.) recently painted a picture of it:

"...Thirteen years from now the American motorist can travel from northern Maine to the Mexican border south of San Diego, Calif., a distance of 4,500 miles, over four-lane divided highways on which traffic will not be interrupted by single stoplight."

Sound romantic or far-fetched? An official of the government's Bureau of Roads, which will supervise the project, said, "No, that's just about right."

In Congress the House has passed a bill to set to his system in motion. The Senate was expected to make the measure law. There will be differences between the two remaining to be ironed out. President Eisenhower is expected to make the measure law.

Why such a superhighway network? For one thing: defense, or speed in case of war. For another: to meet traffic needs. Ten years ago there were 34 million registered vehicles on the highways. Today there are 62 millions. In 10 years there will be about 85 million.

But the 27½ billion dollars for the superhighways is not all the money the government and states will spend on highways. They will probably spend an additional 23 billions over the next 13 years on primary, secondary and urban roads. The federal government's share should be about 38½ billion dollars.

The federal government and the states for years have been chipping in on the cost of primary (main, most traveled highways), secondary less-traveled and urban highways going into cities roads.

In this country there are now about 240,000 miles of primary, 500,000 miles of secondary, and perhaps 15,000 miles of urban roads. Where does the new super-system fit into this picture?

Of the 240,000 miles of primary roads, 40,000 will be designated as part of the interstate system. Does that mean no new roads will be built, that the 40,000 miles of primary roads will simply be improved? No.

Some of those 40,000 miles will be widened, straightened out, overpassed or underpassed, or otherwise improved. But about 32,000 miles of new roads—which will become the primary roads—will be built.

For example: a present primary road—or parts of it—may have to be diverted to make it shorter or more direct.

One official of the Bureau of Roads figured the program will mean employment for maybe 400,000 men a year working directly on construction and perhaps for 600,000 a year in business connected with roadbuilding.

This isn't all free. Taxes are going up on motorists and truckers. For example:

A best of 1 cent a gallon to 3 cents on the gasoline tax, special motor fuel and diesel fuel; an increase on the tire tax from the present 5 cents to 8 cents a pound; a new tax of 3 cents a pound on camelback used for retreading; a rise of 10 per cent in the manufacturer's tax on trucks, buses, and trailers; and a higher tax on trucks weighing over 26,000 pounds.

Boy 12, Saves the Lives of Pair

BETHANY, Okla. (AP) — Two young Bethany boys, Casey Jones, 5, and Jerry Roebuck, 8, were pulled from a farm pond by a 12-year-old companion, Kenneth Ray Hulseley Quellar, Bethany.

The two youngsters were playing on a raft when the raft sunk in deep water. Neither could swim. Quellar splashed into the water and pulled the six-year-old onto the bank and then returned for the other boy.

Returning to shore Quellar found the second youth unconscious and applied artificial respiration he said he learned from his father. After reviving the boy he went for help.

Minister Gets Wrong Number

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — This is the gospel truth, if not the Gospel: When you dial 3-5000 in Boise you get Mrs. Eva McReynolds, not a recorded prayer.

Mrs. McReynolds' telephone has been ringing steadily since last Sunday, when a Boise minister announced that by dialing 3-5000 you would hear recorded prayers played on the phone by an automatic device.

But he got his telephone numbers mixed. Number 3-5000 is Mrs. McReynolds' telephone. The correct numbers for the prayer are 3-0000 and 3-0004.
